Generally, HLCM does not tailor portfolios to Clients. HLCM does not take instructions from Clients to purchase specific securities. However, Clients may impose reasonable restrictions on purchasing specific securities in their account[s]. The Client is responsible for ensuring restrictions are properly enforced.

Item 5 – Fees and Compensation

The following paragraphs detail the fee structure and compensation methodology for services provided by HLCM. Each Client shall sign an agreement that details the responsibilities of HLCM and the Client.

Fees in the first month of service are prorated from the inception date of the account[s] to the end of the first month. Fees may be negotiable at the sole discretion of HLCM. The Client's fees will take into consideration the aggregate assets under management with HLCM. All securities held in accounts managed by HLCM will be independently valued by the Custodian. HLCM will conduct periodic reviews of the Custodian's valuations.

HLCM's fee is exclusive of, and in addition to, any applicable securities transaction and custody fees, and other related costs and expenses described in Item 5.C below, which may be incurred by the Client. However, HLCM shall not receive any portion of these commissions, fees, and costs.

A. Fees for Services

Outsourced Chief Investment Officer Services

Fees for OCIO services are billed at an annual rate of 0.25% to 0.75% of the Client's overall assets under management. Fees are paid monthly, at the end of each month, pursuant to the terms of the OCIO Agreement. Fees are negotiable based on the size and complexity of the Client and the duration of the engagement.

Investment Strategy Services

Sub-advisory fees are typically paid monthly, at the end of each month, pursuant to the terms of the sub-advisory agreement between HLCM and the Independent Advisor. Fees are billed at an annual rate of 0.25% to 0.75% of the market value of the assets placed with HLCM by the Independent Advisor.

Hi-Line Advisors' Services

Hi-Line Advisors' investment advisory fees range from 0.25% to 0.75%. Fees are paid monthly, at the end of each month, pursuant to the terms of the investment advisory agreement. Fees are based on several factors, including but not limited to, the scope of services to be provided, the level of assets to be managed, and the overall relationship with HLCM. Hi-Line Advisors financial planning fees are based on the level of assets managed as follows:

Assets Under Management	Percentage Fee
$0 - $1,000,000	1.25%
$1,000,001 - $2,500,000	1.00%

Hi-Line Capital Management, LLC

Phone: (605) 878-0897 | Fax: (605) 569-7075
<https://www.hi-linecapital.com>

For clients desiring financial planning services with lower levels of investable assets, HLCM may charge a minimum financial planning fee of $1500.

B. Fee Billing

Fees are generally calculated by HLCM and deducted from the Client's account[s] at the Custodian. In such instances, HLCM shall send an invoice to the Custodian indicating the amount of the fees to be deducted from the Client's account[s] at the respective month-end date. The amount due is calculated by applying the monthly rate (annual rate divided by 12) to the total assets under management with HLCM at the end of each month. Clients provide written authorization permitting investment management and advisory fees to be deducted by HLCM to be paid directly from their account[s] held by the Custodian as part of the Client agreement and separate account forms provided by the Custodian.

C. Other Fees and Expenses

Clients may incur certain fees or charges imposed by third parties, other than HLCM in connection with investments made on behalf of the Client's account[s]. The Client is responsible for all securities execution and custody fees charged by the Custodian, if applicable. HLCM's recommended Custodian does not charge securities transaction fees for ETF and equity trades in a Client's account, provided that the account meets the terms and conditions of the Custodian's brokerage requirements. However, the Custodian typically charges for mutual funds and other types of investments. The fees charged by HLCM are separate and distinct from these custody and execution fees.

In addition, all fees paid to HLCM are separate and distinct from the expenses charged by mutual funds and ETFs to their shareholders, if applicable. These fees and expenses are described in each fund's prospectus. These fees and expenses will generally be used to pay management fees for the funds, other fund expenses, account administration (e.g., custody, brokerage, and account reporting), and a possible distribution fee. A Client may be able to invest in these products directly, without the services of HLCM, but would not receive the services provided by HLCM which are designed, among other things, to assist the Client in determining which products or services are most appropriate for each Client's financial situation and objectives. Accordingly, the Client should review both the fees charged by the fund[s] and the fees charged by HLCM to fully understand the total fees to be paid.

D. Termination

HLCM is compensated for its services at the end of the month after investment advisory services are rendered. Either party may terminate the investment advisory agreement, at any time, by providing advance written notice to the other party. The Client may also terminate the investment agreement within five (5) business days of signing HLCM's agreement at no cost to the Client. After the five-day period, the Client will incur charges for bona fide advisory services rendered to the point of termination and such fees will be due and payable by the Client. The Client's investment advisory agreement with HLCM is non-transferable without the Client's prior consent.

E. Compensation for Sales of Securities

HLCM does not buy or sell securities and does not receive any compensation for securities transactions in any Client account, other than the investment management and advisory fees noted above.

Item 6 – Performance-Based Fees and Side-By-Side Management

HLCM does not charge performance-based fees for its investment management services. The fees charged by HLCM are as described in Item 5 above and are not based upon the capital appreciation of the funds or securities held by any Client.

HLCM does not manage any proprietary investment funds or limited partnerships (for example, a mutual fund or a hedge fund) and has no financial incentive to recommend any particular investment options to its Clients.

Item 7 – Types of Clients

HLCM offers investment management, financial planning, and advisory services to individuals, high net worth individuals, trusts, estates, charitable organizations, other investment advisors, and businesses. The amount of each type of Client is available on HLCM's Form ADV Part 1A. These amounts may change over time and are updated at least annually by HLCM.

Item 8 – Methods of Analysis, Investment Strategies and Risk of Loss

A. Methods of Analysis

HLCM endeavors to be an investment operation that, by thorough analysis, seeks to reduce the risk of permanent capital loss and to provide a satisfactory return on principal invested. To achieve this objective, HLCM employs a value-based investment approach. HLCM seeks to identify securities selling for less than their estimated intrinsic value thereby instituting a margin of safety to reduce the risk of permanent capital loss. The lower the price paid relative to estimated worth of a security, the greater the margin of safety of principal achieved.

HLCM primarily employs fundamental analysis in developing investment strategies for its Clients. Research and analysis from HLCM are derived from numerous sources, including financial media companies, third-party research materials, internet sources, and review of company activities, including annual reports, prospectuses, press releases, and research prepared by others.

Fundamental analysis utilizes a bottom-up review of financial, business, and economic information to estimate the intrinsic value of the entity or security being analyzed. Assets are deemed suitable if they meet certain criteria to indicate that they are a strong investment with a value discounted by the market. While this type of analysis helps HLCM in evaluating a potential investment, it does not guarantee that the investment will increase in value. Assets meeting the investment criteria utilized in the fundamental analysis may lose value and may have negative investment performance. HLCM monitors these economic indicators to determine if adjustments to strategic allocations are appropriate. More details regarding HLCM's review process are included below in Item 13 – Review of Accounts.

HLCM generally employs a long-term investment strategy for its Clients, as consistent with their financial goals. HLCM will typically hold all or a portion of a security for more than a year but may hold for shorter periods for the purpose of rebalancing a portfolio or meeting the cash needs of Clients. At times, HLCM may also buy and sell positions that are more short-term in nature, depending on the goals of the Client and/or the fundamentals of the security, sector, or asset class.

B. Risk of Loss

Investing in securities involves certain risks. Securities may fluctuate in value or lose value. Clients should be prepared to bear the potential risk of loss. HLCM will assist Clients in determining an appropriate strategy based on their tolerance for risk and other factors noted above. However, there is no guarantee that a Client will meet their investment goals.

The risks associated with a particular strategy are provided to each Client in advance of investing Client accounts. HLCM will collaborate with each Client to determine their tolerance for risk as part of the portfolio construction process.

Past performance is not a guarantee of future returns. Investing in securities and other investments involve a risk of loss that each Client should understand and be willing to bear. Clients are reminded to discuss these risks with HLCM.

Equity Security Risks

Equity Securities (generally Common stocks) may go up and down in price dramatically, and in the event of an issuer's bankruptcy or restructuring could lose all value. A slower-growth or recessionary economic environment could have an adverse effect on the price of all stocks. Factors affecting an economic sector, region, or even company could impact a particular stock, in addition to the fundamentals of that particular business.

Bond Risks

Bonds are subject to specific risks, including the following: (1) interest rate risks, i.e. the risk that bond prices will fall if interest rates rise, and vice versa, the risk depends on two things, the bond's time to maturity, and the coupon rate of the bond. (2) reinvestment risk, i.e. the risk that any profit gained must be reinvested at a lower rate than was previously being earned, (3) inflation risk, i.e. the risk that the cost of living and inflation increase at a rate that exceeds the income investment thereby decreasing the investor's rate of return, (4) credit default risk, i.e. the risk associated with purchasing a debt instrument which includes the possibility of the company defaulting on its repayment obligation, (5) rating downgrades, i.e. the risk associated with a rating agency's downgrade of the company's rating which impacts the investor's confidence in the company's ability to repay its debt and (6) Liquidity Risks, i.e. the risk that a bond may not be sold as quickly as there is no readily available market for the bond.

Item 9 – Disciplinary Information

There are no legal, regulatory, or disciplinary events involving HLCM or its management persons. HLCM values the trust of Clients. HLCM encourages Clients to perform the requisite due diligence on any advisor or service provider that the Client engages. The backgrounds of HLCM and Advisory Persons are available on the Investment Adviser Public Disclosure website at www.adviserinfo.sec.gov by searching “Hi-Line Capital Management, LLC” or CRD# 149522.

Item 10 – Other Financial Industry Activities and Affiliations

The sole business of HLCM is to provide investment management and advisory services to its Clients. HLCM does not maintain any affiliations with other firms, other than contracted service providers to assist with the servicing of its Client's accounts.

Item 11 – Code of Ethics, Participation or Interest in Client Transactions, Personal Trading

CODE OF ETHICS

HLCM's Code of Ethics, which is available to clients or prospective clients upon request, is as follows:

All employees and owners must comply with all Securities Laws and the HLCM Code of Ethics, which sets forth HLCM's standards of business conduct.

1. Fiduciary Duty

As a fiduciary, it is HLCM's responsibility to always act in the best interests of its clients. HLCM's fiduciary duty represents the core of HLCM's Compliance Program. Specific obligations of HLCM, its employees, and its owners include:

- Placing client interests first and always acting in good faith.
- Having an independent rationale for investment advice.
- Ensuring investment advice is suited to client's objectives, needs, and circumstances.
- Maintaining the confidentiality of client information.
- Exercising care to avoid misleading clients.
- Making full and fair disclosure to the client of all material facts, especially when a conflict of interest, perceived conflict of interest, or potential conflict of interest exists.

2. Conflicts of Interest

Business interests, planned political giving, and other potential conflicts must be disclosed at least annually to the CCO to identify potential restrictions and/or potential disclosures required to clients.

3. Duty of Confidentiality

Any nonpublic information that is obtained in the course of duties and responsibilities with HLCM must be kept confidential. This includes, but is not limited to, information concerning clients or prospective clients, including their identities, investments, and/or account activity.

4. Trading Restrictions and Reporting

- A. Insider Trading is forbidden. This includes acting upon, misusing, or disclosing any material, non-public information (aka "MNPI" or "inside information").
- B. Investing in IPOs is prohibited unless pre-approved by the CCO.
- C. Personal securities transactions and holdings must be reported quarterly or made available to the CCO.

5. Whistleblower Policy

All individuals affiliated with HLCM shall report suspected violations of Securities Laws and other aspects of the compliance program without fear of retaliation upon complaint submitted in good faith determination.

PERSONAL TRADING

HLCM believes it should "eat its own cooking." Accordingly, it uses the same processes and procedures in developing investment strategies for Clients as for itself. Thus, HLCM will often invest in the same securities as Clients. When a security is determined to be purchased, HLCM will only purchase the same security either simultaneously or after purchases for Client accounts. If the security is under consideration for sale, the same rules apply. Any potential conflicts of interest will be disclosed to Clients.

Item 12 – Brokerage Practices

A. Recommendation of Custodian[s]

HLCM does not have discretionary authority to select the broker-dealer/custodian for custody and execution services. The Client will engage the broker-dealer/custodian (herein the "Custodian") to safeguard Client assets and authorize HLCM to direct trades to the Custodian as agreed in the investment advisory agreement. Further, HLCM does not have the discretionary authority to negotiate commissions on behalf of Clients on a trade-by-trade basis.

Where HLCM does not exercise discretion over the selection of the Custodian, it may recommend the Custodian to Clients for custody and execution services. HLCM may recommend the Custodian based on criteria such as, but not limited to, reasonableness of commissions charged to the Client, services made available to the Client, and location of the Custodian's offices. Clients are not obligated to use the recommended Custodian and will not incur any extra fee or cost associated with using a broker-dealer/custodian not recommended by HLCM. HLCM does not receive research services, other products, or compensation as a result of recommending a particular broker that may result in the Client paying higher commissions than those obtainable through other broker-dealers/custodians.

HLCM will generally recommend that Clients establish their account[s] at Charles Schwab & Co., Inc. ("Schwab"), a FINRA-registered broker-dealer and member SIPC. Schwab will serve as the Client's "qualified custodian". HLCM maintains an institutional relationship with Schwab, whereby HLCM receives economic benefits from Schwab. Please see Item 14 below.

Following are additional details regarding the brokerage practices of HLCM:

1. Soft Dollars

Soft dollars are revenue programs offered by broker-dealers/custodians whereby an advisor enters into an agreement to place security trades with a broker-dealer/custodian in exchange for research and other services. HLCM does not participate in soft dollar programs sponsored or offered by any broker-dealer/custodian. HLCM does receive certain benefits through Schwab, as detailed in Item 14 below.

2. Brokerage Referrals

HLCM does not receive any compensation from any third party in connection with the recommendation for establishing an account.

3. Directed Brokerage

All Clients are serviced on a “directed brokerage basis”, where HLCM will place trades within the established account[s] at the Custodian designated by the Client. Further, all Client accounts are traded within their respective account[s] at the Custodian, unless otherwise instructed by the Client. HLCM will not engage in any principal transactions (i.e., trade of any security from or to HLCM’s own account) or cross transactions with other Client accounts (i.e., purchase of a security into one Client account from another Client’s account[s]). HLCM will not be obligated to select competitive bids on securities transactions and does not have an obligation to seek the lowest available transaction costs. These costs are determined by the Custodian.

B. Aggregating and Allocating Trades

The primary objective in placing orders for the purchase and sale of securities for Client accounts is to obtain the most favorable net results taking into account such factors as 1) price, 2) size of the order, 3) difficulty of execution, 4) confidentiality and 5) skill required of the Custodian. HLCM will execute its transactions through the Custodian as directed by the Client.

HLCM may aggregate orders in a block trade or trades when securities are purchased or sold through the Custodian for multiple (discretionary) accounts. If a block trade cannot be executed in full at the same price or time, the securities actually purchased or sold by the close of each business day must be allocated in a manner that is consistent with the initial pre-allocation or other written statement. This must be done in a way that does not consistently advantage or disadvantage particular Clients’ accounts.

Item 13 – Review of Accounts

A. Frequency of Reviews

Securities in Client accounts are monitored on a regular and continuous basis by Mr. Anderson, Member/Owner of HLCM. Formal reviews are generally conducted at least annually or more frequently depending on the needs of the Client.

B. Causes for Reviews

In addition to the investment monitoring noted in Item 13.A., each Client account shall be reviewed at least annually. Reviews may be conducted more frequently at the Client’s request. Accounts may be reviewed as a result of major changes in economic conditions, known changes in the Client’s financial situation, and/or large deposits or withdrawals in the Client’s account[s]. The Client is encouraged to notify HLCM if changes occur in the Client’s personal financial situation that might adversely affect the Client’s investment plan. Additional reviews may be triggered by material market, economic or political events.

C. Review Reports

The Client will receive brokerage statements no less than quarterly from the Custodian. These brokerage statements are sent directly from the Custodian to the Client. The Client may also establish electronic access to the Custodian’s website so that the Client may view these reports and their account activity. Client brokerage statements will include all positions, transactions and fees relating to the Client’s account[s]. HLCM may also provide Clients with periodic reports regarding their holdings, allocations, and performance.

Item 14 – Client Referrals and Other Compensation

A. Compensation Received by HLCM

HLCM does not receive commissions or other compensation from product sponsors, broker-dealers, or any unrelated third party. HLCM may refer Clients to various third parties to provide certain financial services necessary to meet the goals of its Clients. Likewise, HLCM may receive referrals of new Clients from a third-party.

Participation in Institutional Advisor Platform

HLCM has established an institutional relationship with Schwab through its “Schwab Advisor Services” unit, a division of Schwab dedicated to serving independent advisory firms like HLCM. As a registered investment advisor participating on the Schwab Advisor Services platform, HLCM receives access to software and related support without cost because HLCM renders investment management services to Clients that maintain assets at Schwab. Services provided by Schwab Advisor Services benefit HLCM and many, but not all, services provided by Schwab will benefit Clients. In fulfilling its duties to its Clients, HLCM endeavors at all times to put the interests of its Clients first. Clients should be aware, however, that the receipt of economic benefits from a custodian creates a conflict of interest since these benefits may influence HLCM's recommendation of this custodian over one that does not furnish similar software, systems support, or services.

Services that Benefit the Client – Schwab's institutional brokerage services include access to a broad range of investment products, execution of securities transactions, and custody of Client's funds and securities. Through Schwab, HLCM may be able to access certain investments and asset classes that the Client would not be able to obtain directly or through other sources. Further, HLCM may be able to invest in certain mutual funds and other investments without having to adhere to investment minimums that might be required if the Client were to directly access the investments.

Services that May Indirectly Benefit the Client – Schwab provides participating advisors with access to technology, research, discounts and other services. In addition, HLCM receives duplicate statements for Client accounts, the ability to deduct advisory fees, trading tools, and back-office support services as part of its relationship with Schwab. These services are intended to assist HLCM in effectively managing accounts for its Clients but may not directly benefit all Clients.

Services that May Only Benefit HLCM – Schwab also offers other services to HLCM that may not benefit the Client, including educational conferences and events, support, consulting services and discounts for various service providers. Access to these services creates a financial incentive for HLCM to recommend Schwab, which results in a conflict of interest. HLCM believes, however, that the selection of Schwab as Custodian is in the best interests of its Clients.

B. Compensation for Client Referrals

Certain Clients may be referred to HLCM by either an affiliated or unaffiliated party (herein "Promoter") and receive, directly or indirectly, compensation for the Client referral. In such instances, HLCM will compensate the Promoter with a fee in accordance with Rule 206(4)-1 of the Advisers Act and any corresponding state securities requirements. Any such compensation shall be paid solely from the investment advisory fees earned by HLCM and shall not result in any additional charge to the Client.

Item 15 – Custody

HLCM does not accept or maintain custody of any Client accounts, except for the authorized deduction of HLCM's fees and certain money movement authority as described below. All Clients must place their assets with a “qualified custodian”. Clients are required to engage the Custodian to retain their funds and securities and direct HLCM to utilize the Custodian for the Client's security transactions. HLCM encourages Clients to review statements provided by the Custodian. For more information about custodians and brokerage practices, see Item 12 – Brokerage Practices.

Item 16 – Investment Discretion

HLCM generally has discretion over the selection and number of securities to be bought or sold in Client accounts without obtaining prior consent or approval from the Client. However, these purchases or sales may be subject to specified investment objectives, guidelines, or limitations previously set forth by the Client and agreed to by HLCM. Discretionary authority will only be authorized upon full disclosure to the Client. The granting of such authority will be evidenced by the Client's execution of an investment advisory agreement containing all applicable limitations to such authority. All discretionary trades made by HLCM will be in accordance with each Client's investment objectives and goals.

Under limited circumstances, HLCM may manage accounts on a non-discretionary basis. In these instances, HLCM provides recommendations to Clients and if recommendations are approved, HLCM will implement them in accordance with the Client's instructions.

Item 17 – Voting Client Securities

It is the policy of HLCM for the Chief Investment Officer, or its delegate, to vote all proxies in the best interests and for the benefit of its clients. Voting is to be done in accordance with the judgment as to what decision is most likely to balance the risk of permanent capital loss with the desire to maximize total return to the client as an investor in the company whose securities are being voted.

Voting will generally, but not always, follow the recommendation of management. In certain circumstances, HLCM may elect to not vote proxies due to special circumstances that may include (a) securities no longer held in a client's account; (b) materials not received in sufficient time to analyze by the voting deadline; or (c) the costs of voting outweighs potential benefits to clients.

If a conflict of interest arises between HLCM and the Client regarding the outcome of certain proxy votes, HLCM is committed to resolving the conflict in the best interest of the Clients before voting the proxy in question.

HLCM will maintain records of proxies that have been voted on behalf of its clients for a period of six years. At the request of the client, HLCM voting records and policy will be made available.

Item 18 – Financial Information

HLCM is not required to deliver a balance sheet along with this Disclosure Brochure as HLCM does not collect fees of $1,200 or more for services to be performed six months or more in advance.

The CFP® certification is a voluntary certification; no federal or state law or regulation requires financial planners to hold CFP® certification. It is recognized in the United States and a number of other countries for its (1) high standard of professional education; (2) stringent code of conduct and standards of practice; and (3) ethical requirements that govern professional engagements with clients. Currently, more than 88,000 individuals have obtained CFP® certification in the United States.

To attain the right to use the CFP® marks, an individual must satisfactorily fulfill the following requirements:

- Education – Complete an advanced college-level course of study addressing the financial planning subject areas that CFP® Board’s studies have determined as necessary for the competent and professional delivery of financial planning services, and attain a Bachelor’s Degree from a regionally accredited United States college or university (or its equivalent from a foreign university). CFP® Board’s financial planning subject areas include insurance planning and risk management, employee benefits planning, investment planning, income tax planning, retirement planning, and estate planning;
- Examination – Pass the comprehensive CFP® Certification Examination. The examination includes case studies and client scenarios designed to assess one’s ability to correctly diagnose financial planning issues and apply one’s knowledge of financial planning to real world circumstances;
- Experience – Complete at least three years of full-time financial planning-related experience (or the equivalent, measured as 2,000 hours per year); and
- Ethics – Agree to be bound by CFP® Board’s Standards of Professional Conduct, a set of documents outlining the ethical and practice standards for CFP® professionals.

Individuals who become certified must complete the following ongoing education and ethics requirements in order to maintain the right to continue to use the CFP® marks:

- Continuing Education – Complete 30 hours of continuing education hours every two years, including two hours on the Code of Ethics and other parts of the Standards of Professional Conduct, to maintain competence and keep up with developments in the financial planning field; and
- Ethics – Renew an agreement to be bound by the Standards of Professional Conduct. The Standards prominently require that CFP® professionals provide financial planning services at a fiduciary standard of care. This means CFP® professionals must provide financial planning services in the best interests of their clients.

CFP® professionals who fail to comply with the above standards and requirements may be subject to the CFP® Board’s enforcement process, which could result in suspension or permanent revocation of their CFP® certification.
